The Song of A Unicorn

I came upon a unicorn a most unusual creature
I wanted her to be my friend so I stretched out to reach her

Her coat was furry, soft and warm and from her head she held upright displaying for the world to see, one shiny horn all pearly white

I asked her why she had just one horn upon her head, and if it had a weird affect upon the life she led

She spoke of adventures with rainbow kings and queens, the adults and the children and the in-betweens

She sang of sun-filled night times of building in the sand, of playgrounds filled with people Of love felt through the land

Her tunes were of a lullabye which follows peaceful sleep, and when she started going out, my tears began to weep

As she moved on and I looked up the twinkle in my eye, reflected off that pearly horn and shone up to the sky

Then from my head I felt a lump pushing its way through, and if there still is magic - I'm a unicorn too.
